

Data Security Claims Examples

Water Treatment Plant in North Carolina

A laptop stolen from the facility held the names and social security numbers of the city's volunteer firefighters.

Water Department in Connecticut

Documents with the names and social security numbers of 26 people were found scattered by the Quinnipiac River.

Municipal Water District in California

Two computers were stolen from the district office. One included names and credit card numbers of customers.

City in Mississippi

Video surveillance cameras caught two intruders stealing hard drives from 18 computers. Data files contained names, addresses, and social security numbers of current and former city employees and registered voters, as well as bank account information for employees and customers.

Contact us at Submit@bsrins.com today!

We specialize so you don't have to.